Interests

I am very passionate about technology. I have attended several IT-related training courses, specifically in database management and analysis using Oracle, and I have several certificates from this platform. Regarding non-specialized interest, I have participated in the Sultan Qaboos University Majors Fair, representing the Information Systems Department on several occasions. I also participated in the Business Week organized by the Business Group at the College of Economics and Political Science, again representing the Information Systems Department. I am actively involved in volunteer work, student activities, and business management. I have also contributed to and been one of the organizers of various activities for the Operations Management and Business Statistics Group and Information System Group.
